Not His Style.

A Welsh judge had before him a case in which a printer sued a pork butcher for the value of a large parcel of paper bags with the butcher's advertisement printed thereon. The printer, having no suitable illustration to embellish the work, thought he improved the occasion by putting an elaborate royal arms above the man's name and address, but ultimately the latter refused to pay. The judge, looking over a specimen, observed that for his part he thought the lion and the unicorn were much nicer than an old fat pig. "Oh, well," answered the butcher, "per-haps your honor likes to eat animals like that, but my customers don't. I don't kill lions and unicorns; I only kill fat pigs!" Verdict for defendant.

Disraeli's Hifalutin.

One night Mr. Disraeli was among the Churchills' guests, and an anecdote of his visit may be preserved. "I think," said Lord Randolph, discussing with his wife their party after it had broken up, "that Dizzy enjoyed himself. But how flowery and exaggerated is his language! When I asked him if he would have any more wine he replied, 'My dear Randolph, I have sipped your excellent champagne; I have drunk your good claret; I have tasted your delicious port—I will have no more!'" "Well," said Lady Randolph, laughing, "he sat next me, and I particularly remarked that he drank nothing but a little weak brandy and water."—From "Life of Randolph Churchill."

DOCTORS ENDORSE HERPICIDE

Because Its Formula is Submitted to Them.

Alexander McMillan, M. D., a prominent physician of Lansing, Michigan, writes: "On three cases I have tested Herpicide for dandruff and the result has been all that could be desired."

Herpicide is made upon an entirely new principle, that is, that dandruff and falling hair are caused from a microbe that infests the hair bulb, and, by destroying the microbe one's hair is bound to grow luxuriantly. Herpicide is the only hair remedy that claims to, and really does, destroy the dandruff germs.

For sale by W. A. D'Alemberte, druggist and apothecary, 121 South Palafox street, or send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

LARGE FIRST COMMUNION AND CONFIRMATION CLASSES

Busy Scenes Will Be Enacted in Local Catholic Churches Today.

THE PERSONNEL

Seventy in the Communion Class at St. Michael's.

BISHOP ALLEN OF MOBILE WILL ADMINISTER CONFIRMATION AT ST. MICHAEL'S AND ST. JOSEPH'S CHURCH THIS MORNING AND AT WARRINGTON THIS AFTERNOON.

St. Michael's church will undoubtedly be crowded at high mass at 10:30 o'clock this morning. The occasion is that seventy young misses and boys will make their first holy communion and a class of fifty-four will also be confirmed by Bishop E. P. Allen of Mobile.

The large first communion class has been studying for some time and the importance of the step, which is a great one in the Catholic church, has been fully explained to those who will partake of the sacrament. In addition to the class of fifty-four to be confirmed there will be a number of adults who will receive the sacrament of confirmation.

The Class.

Those who will receive their first communion are:

Your Property.

All you had before your marriage is still yours, and in most states you have also the sole ownership of that which you acquire after marriage. Your right minded husband will wish you to have your property stand in your name, that it may be free from the possible attachment of his creditors. If your property or part of it be real estate, remember that the law of the state in which real estate is situated governs all matters concerning it. All your property is subject to the laws of your domicile. Some states require a man to join in a deed of his wife's property even though the property is really hers. Get legal advice on such points. It is seldom safe to be a party to the transfer of property without it.—Caroline J. Cook in Good Housekeeping.

LAUNDRY LINES.

Soaking handkerchiefs all night in strong salt water will greatly facilitate their washing.

When washing flannels get rid of as much dust and dirt as you possibly can by shaking and brushing before plunging into water.

After blankets have been washed and hung on the line and are thoroughly dry, beat with a carpet beater. The wool will become light and soft, like new.

In laundering white spreads or any large piece where difficulty is experienced in finding the large soiled spots a good plan is to fasten a piece of black silk thread to most soiled places. The spots can then be easily detected.

Treating silk when wet gives it a smooth, glossy appearance, but should the waist get dry before it is ironed dip it in clean cold water and roll in a cloth. Do not sprinkle water over it, as that would make it look rough and blotchy when ironed.
